Welcome to Rappahannock County Virginia!

It's the 15th Annual Farm Tour!

Please join us for the Rappahannock County Farm Tour, a free, two-day, self-guided event offering a behind-the-scenes glimpse of our working farms.

We have 16 farms this year, with a wide range of farms and experiences – from beekeeping to horses to organic vegetable farms, not to mention goats, chickens, cows, as well as local artisans selling their wares, and local non-profits.

Officially founded in 1833, Rappahannock County's early settlers were small farmers, and the county has long been deeply rooted in agriculture.

The mission of the Rappahannock County Farm Tour is to present an unforgettable, educational, and enriching experience of Rappahannock County's (Agri)Culture.

Come see, taste, savor, and enjoy the abundance we have to offer!

SATURDAY AND SUNDAY

Bean Hollow Grassfed @ Over Jordan Farm operates on the premise that grazing livestock can be a profitable way to heal the land. We like to tell folks “we grow carbon, grass and meat.” With approximately 100 ewes, their lambs, 10-15 cattle, several pigs, and a couple of goats, it sometimes feels like a 3 ring circus!

Bean Hollow Grassfed uses a system of grazing all the sheep, goats and cattle together in a “flerd.” The animals are grazed on small temporary parcels and moved every 1-4 days, creating greater plant utilization and longer recovery periods for the pastures. Over time, this enhances the soil health and plant diversity. Our goal is to extend our grazing season to a year round practice. We’re not there yet, but we’re getting closer.

Working with the Piedmont Environmental Council and the Smithsonian’s Virginia

Working Landscapes, we are monitoring a broad number of soil and plant characteristics; along with bird and pollinator populations.

We will move sheep from one daily paddock to another at 11am each day.

- Our sheep are certified Animal Welfare Approved and AWA Grassfed
- Grassfed lamb and beef and pastured pork is available at our self-serve on farm store.

SATURDAY AND SUNDAY

One of the oldest farms in Rappahannock, Greenfield, formerly part of 1735 Colonial Land Grant from King George II and 1748 land grants from Thomas 6th Lord Fairfax. The original grant acreage was 1750 acres. Greenfield was not named until 1769 when the house was completed. The property originally included what is now the town of Washington and has supported the livelihoods of hundreds of people for over 250 years. During the Civil War the house was occupied by officers of both the Union and Confederate Armies, and Colonel John Mosby is reported to have stayed for several weeks.

Over the years the property has been whittled down to its present 83 acres, which now supports a herd of black Angus cows, horses, chickens, including the American Breese Chicken, ducks, geese, and hair sheep. On your visit you will learn the health benefits of the various kinds of eggs raised on the farm.

Sylvie Rowand manages the gardens that provide a wide variety of crops for fresh eating, preserving, and for sale to local restaurants; local subscribers; and to Sylvie's personal chef & catering business. Crops include berries, greens, medicinal & culinary herbs, edible flowers, unique winter salad blends, sweet potatoes, etc. Annual crops are started from seeds in the greenhouse or direct seeded. No synthetic inputs are used; the gardens are no-till with heavy use of compost and some cover crops, as well as insectary plantings. Winter growing is possible thanks to cold frames and 2 small home-built unheated growing tunnels.

The apiary operation is now a collaboration between Sylvie and Griffin Gough of Back Road Bee (backroadbee.com). Griffin has been keeping bees since he was 10 and is an enthusiastic teacher. He is a contract beekeeper for over 200 hives located on 26 farms & gardens, mostly in Fauquier. Come learn how he manages the apiaries (home apiary & satellite apiaries) originally set up by Keith Rowand, and the techniques he uses to promote the health and wellbeing of the colonies without persistent chemicals or antibiotics.

Guided tours of the gardens & review of apiary operations will be provided at set times. There will be plenty of opportunities for Q&A.

Registration is required AHEAD of time, due to limited on-site parking. PLEASE NOTE: refrain from wearing perfume and perfumed lotions as their scent can be very attractive to honeybees. Do not come if you are allergic to bee stings.

& Brewery is a Virginia agritourism destination, open to the public year round. The farm spans 55 acres right in the sweet spot of Virginia Wine Country, high on the sunrise side of the Blue Ridge Mountains at the base of Shenandoah National Park. We produce wine and beer from our farm grown hops and vineyards. Environment sustainability is our most motivating factor, with a goal to grow all of our crops as organically as possible. Our vineyards are dry farmed, relying only on natural rain fall. Two of our vineyards are monitored at the forefront of agricultural experimentation with the effects of climate change. In 2023 we added peach and apple orchards, fiddlehead ferns, mums and pumpkins to our product line at Skyline Farm to enhance your year round PYO fun!

Our lush vineyards were planted over a decade ago, and the winery's striking tasting room opened in 2009. Owners Pandit and Sudha Patil have created a space – reminiscent of their home country of India – that is both exotic and welcoming. Narmada offers a selection of tasting flights, each with a slightly different flavor profile. Reds, whites, roses, sweets – there is something to please every palate! Our tasting room is available for private parties in the evening, our wine cellar can hold an intimate gathering, and our pavilion by the lake has been the site of many memorable weddings and parties. ## SATURDAY AND SUNDAY

Farmer-Guided tours
available Saturday, self-guided tours on Sunday

Off the Grid, is a cafe, market and farm just outside of Sperryville, VA in Rappahannock County. In our effort to produce eco-friendly food we are 100% solar-powered, and strive for low waste and carbon-neutral operations.

On the Farm:

Fresh eggs, seasonal produce, and honey. The on-site small-scale farm is where you will find hens for free-range eggs, an apiary for honey production and gardens for year round produce, herbs, and edible flowers. We practice carbon-reduction farming by working the soil in no-till methods, plant rotation and planting carbon-friendly crops. Our pasture-raised chicken and pork come from local farms that meet our standards for sustainability and humane farming practices, while vegan and vegetarian items feature prominently on the menu.

Powered by the Sun:

Off the Grid is powered by a solar array in a back field. The 30 kw system can be seen from the outdoor seating next to the Thornton River. Additional arrays are on other garages on the property. An old fruit stand was refurbished into a level-2 charging center for electric vehicles, where customers can charge their EV's. The building itself was remodeled with energy efficient equipment and insulation. Energy efficient windows and other fixtures were repurposed from local remodeling jobs. In other sustainability goals, Off the Grid works hard to reduce our waste through repurposing, recycling, and composting on site.

Directions: Located just 6 miles east of the Thornton Gap entrance to the Skyline Drive, Off the Grid is on the Thornton River, borders the Shenandoah National Park and is 1 mile west of the charming town of Sperryville.

SUNDAY ONLY

Pen Druid Fermentation focuses on native and spontaneous beer and cider fermentation. Established in 2015 by the three Carney brothers, Lain, Van and Jennings, Pen Druid seeks to find the character and taste of the native microbiology unique to the Blue Ridge Mountains and Rappahannock County. Originally, the operation began in the old Copper Fox apple-packing warehouse. In 2020 the brothers moved the operation to Eldon Farm and established a permaculture orchard. The new orchard and location's mission is to grow apples, plums and pears without the use of pesticides, herbicides or fungicides and to create a unique micro culture environment within the orchard. Additionally, the brothers have been working with local and state wildlife resources to restore the native wetlands and grasslands with the use of prescribed burning in the late winter and planting native riparian fruit and nut trees. Several bee colonies are also on the farm.

We have beer, cider and honey for sale at the farm.

SERENDIPITY EQUINE

162 Rollins Ford Road, Amissville, VA 20106

contact@serendipityequine.com • serendipityequine.com

SATURDAY ONLY

Serendipity Equine is a 501c3 organization where horses and humans prosper by working together. Serendipity provides educational and equine-assisted therapy and responds to the growing need for rescue and rehabilitations. Horses are gently rehabilitated and then trained for participation in Serendipity programs or re-homed according to each horse's unique needs. Every horse and every person has a place and purpose in one of Serendipity's programs, which include therapeutic horsemanship, Liberty training, mounted archery, equine-assisted learning, and working equitation lessons.

Serendipity Equine was founded in February 2019 when the U.S. Army transferred the Lanham family from Fort Polk to Aberdeen Proving Grounds. The Lanhams purchased a 70+ acre property in Rappahannock, Virginia that has structures dating from 1737. This historic property had been unused for a decade prior to the Lanham's purchase and had fallen into a state of significant disrepair.

In the four years since moving in, the Lanham's restored the abandoned farm into a working barn that has already served more than 30 horses and 50 students with the help of 30+ volunteers. Serendipity Equine is committed to serving our entire community by providing Liberty and mounted archery team and club membership opportunities, working equitation, internships, and all therapy programs at the lowest possible fees or even free of charge for those in need. We will be holding special demonstrations from the Mounted Archery and Liberty Teams throughout the day. Please visit our Facebook page for further details.

162 Rollins Ford Road \ Amissville, VA 20106

Directions: From 211 turn onto Waterloo Road and then a left onto Rollins Ford Road. Do not go down the gravel road on the right, stay to the left on the paved road. You will pass two ponds on your right, the driveway is the next on the right. You will see the wooden and metal Serendipity sign at the entrance. Please park in the parking lot at the top and then make your way down to the blue barn. There is handicap accessible parking down by the barn for those that need it. Spaces are limited.

The Farm at Sunnyside blends sustainable agriculture with environmental protection. We grow certified organic fruits and vegetables for local sale and land not in agricultural production is actively managed for biodiversity and beneficial ecosystems with our Conservation Program. We will be offering walking tours with our farm managers and conservationist discussing both agricultural and conservation practices.

Tours will be available Sunday at 11:30 and 2:30 and last approximately 45 minutes. We will also have a farm stand with organically grown fruits and New Iberia will be serving paella starting around 3 PM.

Locally Sourced:

All of the grains we use are locally sourced, and our barley is floor malted in the traditional style.

Innovative Ideas:

Our innovation begins in the kiln, where instead of peat, we use local fruitwoods that gently smoke and dry the grain. Using this method, we launched the first applewood-aged whisky in the world..

Distinctive and Original Flavors:

Copper Fox is the only distillery on the planet to mature their whisky with toasted applewood. This process further develops and enhances the flavor of the smoky malt, resulting in a complex and singular flavor experience.
